

To Whom This May Concern,

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter to express my recommendation for Chad Nestell in his pursuit of a position within your company. This past semester I had the pleasure of Chad enrolling as a student of my Hydraulics and Pneumatics class within Delta College.

While enrolled in this course, Chad was a model student who showed up earlier than asked, worked hard, and carried himself in a polite, respectable manner. In addition to his punctuality, Chad has made a difference with other students by making them feel comfortable with asking questions and maintaining a positive attitude. He has demonstrated true leadership qualities by being elected leader of group labs by his peers. Chad has also exceeded the necessary mechanical skills required by the course with his ability to build hydraulic labs, which included a regenerative circuit and sequence circuits. Upon completion of this course, Chad finished top of his class in Hydraulics and Pneumatics.

As you further consider Chad for a position within your company, please let me know if I can provide any additional assistance or answer any further questions.

Sincerely,
